

ANTIOCH BANKERS HAVE CONFIDENCE IN RECOVERY OF BUSINESS

Local Institutions Sound Directors Vote Dividend Payment

The cutting of dividend melons at both the First National Bank and the Antioch State Bank at the final meetings of directors for the year 1930 was looked upon as an expression of confidence that the new year will witness business conditions gradually working into an improved position.

Just how the much-heralded national prosperity trend will have to do with local conditions is a guess, one banker confessed, but it business is on the up-grade generally the reaction cannot help reaching all eventually, he said.

New Law in Effect

The new law requiring state banks to put aside 10 per cent of profits until the surplus amounts to 20 per cent of the capital stock was complied with by the State Bank directors here in their meeting Monday night. After reserving the customary amount for taxes, depreciation and undivided profits, the directors declared a semi-annual dividend.

National Cuts Melon

Dividend checks were also being paid to stockholders in the First National Bank today, following the December meeting of directors of that institution Tuesday afternoon. Directors expressed confidence in the institution for the future and in the general improvement of business conditions.

The annual meetings of stockholders of the two banks will be held this month.

Federal Aid Money to Give Employment on Illinois Highways

State Receives $3,400,116 From Government for Emergency Work

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 31.—Illinois received $3,400,116 out of the $80,000,000 fund just approved by the federal government for emergency construction on the federal aid highway system as a means of increasing employment, according to a report received by the Chicago Motor Club from the United States department of agriculture.

The $80,000,000 fund allotted to the various states at this time is in the nature of an advance payment, for which the federal government will be reimbursed through deductions from the regular federal aid allotments over a period of five years, beginning with the fiscal year 1933.

The sums allotted under the emergency appropriation to state adjacent to Illinois follow: Wisconsin, $1,392,410; Iowa, $2,116,369; Missouri, $2,534,323; Kentucky, $1,504,715; and Indiana, $2,045,929.

Rotnour Players Draw Crowds to Crystal

The J. B. Rotnour Players continue to "pack them in" at the Crystal theatre, where they appear every Tuesday night in spoken drama. There is an entire change of program every Tuesday.

"J. B." called and announced the play for next Tuesday as "The Push," one of the best known stock comedies obtainable. He says "The Push" is a comedy with a dramatic plot which is unlike any play thus far presented here by the company. Mr. Rotnour also announces the personal appearance of Miss Flora DeVoss in the near future.

ANTIOCH COMMUNITY RECEIVES XMAS GIFT

A check for $900 was received by G. L. Kall from the treasurer of the state department of agriculture at Springfield, the day before Christmas. This check covers 80 per cent of the money given for premium prizes at the Antioch-Lake Villa Poultry Exposition and Country Fair, which was held October 9, 10 and 11.

Mrs. Andrew Harrison Purchases Mother's Home

Mrs. Andrew Harrison is now owner of the property at 548 Lake St. formerly owned by her deceased mother, Mrs. A. A. Clark, having purchased it the day before Christmas. Mrs. Harrison is installing modern improvements and expects to beautify the place in the spring.

LAKE COUNTY 9TH IN NUMBER OF STUDENTS AT U. OF ILLINOIS

Antioch Sends 8; Ranks Fourth in Lake County; Waukegan First

One hundred and thirty-five students from Lake County are attending the University of Illinois this fall, an announcement of official figures today revealed. They are practically all home now for the holidays.

The registration for the current year will exceed 15,000—all resident students.

Cook County, the largest in the state, again leads all other in total enrollment in the Urbana-Champaign departments of the university, with 8,495 students. One thousand and twenty-eight Cook County students attend the university's college of medicine, college of dentistry, and school of pharmacy, all located in Chicago.

Altogether, fourteen counties have more than 100 representatives at the university. Lake County is ninth in this number.

Those from Antioch are as follows: Parent, Student, Fred, Helen, Cribb, Mrs. Fred, Homer Eugene, Herman, Henry, Albert Llewellyn, Kennedy, Frank B., Harold Frank, King, Frank, Lois Rae, Roberts, H. S., Glenna Elizabeth, Simpson, A. G., Arthur Philip, Webb, S. Chase, E. Morley.

Deerfield is represented by two: Ft. Sheridan, by one.

Grayslake contributes six—Oliver Barron, Raymond Paul Barron, Herbert D. Gould, Florence Hook, J. A. Morse and Chauncey H. Parker.

Gurnee claims four—Harry Harvey, Harbison, Eileen Florence Kimball, Robert Bidwell, Steadman, Clyde Russell, Wutske.

One student is attending from Lake Villa—Clyde Frederick Helm; from Libertyville—Harold Carl Brunner; Mundelein—Robert Louis Hendee, Vance Adrian Ray, and Harry Merlyn Rouse; Round Lake—Lillian Dorothy Brown, Annabel Frances Junge, and Esther Louise Lusk.

Highland Park is represented by fifteen students: Lake Bluff, two; Lake Forest, twelve; Lake Zurich, one; North Chicago, five; Ravinia, one; Wauconda, three; Waukegan, fifty-two; Winthrop Harbor, one; and Zion, seven.

Famous Art Masterpiece Is Shown in Waukegan

"The Crib," a reproduction of Le Rolle's famous masterpiece, which adorns the walls of the museum of Cassassane, France, has been placed in the lecture room of the Holy Child high school of Waukegan, 1201 Sheridan Road.

It is the property of a priest of the Chicago diocese and was secured recently on his tour of Europe.

Countless visitors are daily viewing this priceless work of art, which will remain on exhibition until January 8. The public is welcome. Closing hours are 8 p. m.

MUST PAY $235 FOR DAMAGES AS RESULT OF RECKLESS DRIVING

W. Schaeffer of Chicago will have to pay $235 to W. K. Porter, of Burlington, whose car he hit December 14, near Lake Villa, it was decided in Justice William Regan's court here Friday, after Porter had filed a civil suit against him. He will be given twenty days to pay, unless he appeals the case.

Miss Olive Hanson is spending a few days visiting in Chicago.

Lawlessness To Be Stopped In Lake Co.

Prowlers and Chicken and Cattle Thieves Will Be Hunted Down

Declaring war upon chicken thieves, cattle rustlers and furniture raiders, who have been making too frequent visits on farms and in the lake resorts within recent years, 200 farmers and members of the Lake County Farmers' Protective Association met Tuesday afternoon at Dietz's stables at Grayslake to take decisive steps to stop these lawless crimes.

Ten special deputies are to be appointed by Sheriff Lester Tiffany, who promised the farmers his full cooperation in the matter.

J. J. Claude, of Barrington, was elected president, while the newly elected board of directors is composed of George Dosse, Wadsworth, Levi Walt, Round Lake; Cliff Benwell, Wauconda; Buford Dooley, Gurnee, and W. F. Dietz, Grayslake.

The Lake County Pure Milk Association and the Farm Bureau were responsible for the organization of this association. Membership is increasing rapidly.

BOYS INVOLVED IN ACCIDENT; BOTH CARS WRECKED

Homer La Plant, accompanied by his sister, Mildred, and George Wagner, was forced into the ditch north of Rollins Corner on Route 21 between Lake Villa and Grayslake, Friday afternoon, when a Model T Ford car swung unexpectedly around a bend and side-swiped their car. No one was seriously injured although Mr. Wagner was unconscious for over an hour. Both cars, however, were badly wrecked. The other driver, who was from Lyons, Ill., was held responsible.

FUNERAL OF OLD MAN D. PRESSION TO BE GALA AFFAIR

The Libertyville town pest, Old Man D. PreSSION, will go to his final resting place Saturday with fan bands playing, amid the joyous shouts of the "mourner."

He breathed his last Saturday afternoon, and was placed on exhibition at his place of repose, near the Public Service Company on Milwaukee avenue. Dignitaries throughout the county have been invited to attend the funeral, which will be held Saturday afternoon, January 3, with two bands preceding the coffin, one playing Verdi's "Miserere" and the other Chopin's "Funeral March." Cremation will be held at 4:30, at the old hall park, followed by a reading of the will. On the return trip the bands will play "Happy Days Are Here Again" and "Ain't We Got Fun."

Murder Attempted By Wis. Lunatic

His newly regained freedom from a Kansas insane asylum apparently didn't agree with John Ehlen, Lyons, Wis., who attempted to murder Mrs. James Block, of Lyons, Wis., one of the party who was returning him to his home. The man became incensed in Libertyville and tried to strangle Mrs. Block, but with the aid of Libertyville police, he was controlled, and turned over to the Elkhorn sheriff.

New 1931 License Plates Are Seen Here

The new license plates are beginning to make their appearance. At least they should, as the automobile department of the secretary of state's office is very busy sending out the licenses. The new plates have black letters on a field of light green. Indications are that the number of licenses issued for pleasure cars in 1931 will exceed by 100,000 the number issued this year.

ANTIOCH PALACE IS SOLD AT AUCTION

C. K. Anderson, Holder of Mortgage, Buys Dance Hall Property

Entering his bid through his representative, C. K. Anderson, holder of a large mortgage on the Antioch Palace, Monday bought the property in the sale conducted by Master-in-Chancery Ben Miller, for $42,411.00, just $2,400 less than the decree figures. Leo Daily, receiver, will remain in charge for the present; it was announced.

Judgments amounting to over $15,000 must be satisfied before Anderson gets clear title to the place, attorneys stated. Anderson became chief creditor when he backed the project during the building of the Palace by Richard Macet and his wife four years ago. In spite of the fact that the owner showed a substantial profit over the 2-year period of operation, during which time the Palace became the center of amateur boxing in Lake County and a popular dancing and amusement center, complications with various creditors forced foreclosure proceedings, according to attorneys who sought to protect Anderson's interests.

It was the effort to protect other creditors that brought about the consent of court proceedings, when three prominent local people were cited for molesting property while it was under court jurisdiction, even though a writ of replevin had been secured. The case is still pending, having been appealed from the local circuit court to the appellate court.

MYRTLE KLASS IS INDUCTED AS WORTHY MATRON OF O. E. S.

Installation of Officers by Mrs. Emma Selter Is Impressive

With Mrs. Emma Selter as installing officer of the Antioch chapter, No. 428, O. E. S., the newly elected officers were inducted into their stations for the ensuing year at the installation ceremony held Monday evening. Mrs. Myrtle Klass will head the lodge this year as Worthy Matron.

Nearly 150 were present, including members of Waukegan lodge, Millburn, Lake Villa, Fox Lake and Grayslake. The hall was beautifully decorated with poinsettias, chrysanthemums and ferns.

A pleasing program was presented, the individual selections being given at various times throughout the evening. John Tellaisha delighted his audience with a violin solo; several numbers were sung by the male quartet, composed of S. E. Pollock, Rev. Philip Bohi, L. O. Bright and Howard Mastine; Roberta Rose Selter, in a canary costume, danced in graceful ballet style; a reading was given by Miss Mabel Griggs; interesting topics were discussed by S. E. Pollock, Frank Haber, Wm. Weber of Lake Villa, Mrs. Eleanor Mitchell, and Mrs. Emma Selter; Otto S. Klass solemnly presented the "Ode to the Flag." Mrs. O. Klass also spoke briefly, expressing her appreciation of the honor conferred upon her by the members of the order in electing her matron, and of the many gifts and flowers which she had received. Mrs. Joan Ferris was presented with a Past Matron's pin by Mrs. Clara Westlake.

A chicken salad lunch was served, with dainty favors for all.

The installing officers, who so beautifully exemplified the work, were Mrs. Emma Selter; Eleanor Mitchell, installing marshal; Erma Powles, installing chaplain; Alice Goldie, installing organist; Adolph Pesal, Robert Wilton, and Arthur Trieger, escorts; Otto S. Klass, "Ode to the Flag."

Officers installed were: Myrtle Klass, worthy matron; Samuel Pollock, worthy patron; Esther Wilton, associate matron; Ethel Pesal, secretary; Clara Westlake, treasurer; Linda Buschman, conductress; Louise Simons, associate conductress; Eleanor Mitchell, chaplain; Jean Ferris, marshal; Lillian Jensen, organist; Margaret Lukkermatz, Ada; Martha Westlake, Ruth; Vera Nelson, Martha; Frieda Werts, Electa; Bosale Trieger, warden; Barney Trieger, sentinel; Mabel L. Griggs, instructress.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Tronson and "Rube" Tronson returned Monday from Amhurst, Wis., where they spent two days. Rube Tronson and his cowboys will continue to Middleton, O., to play.

Circulation of Prosperity Buck Increases Daily

Where is the prosperity dollar resting tonight? Already it has traveled to no less than sixteen shops, and still moves restlessly on, in its effort to increase prosperity in Antioch. The names listed on the slip of paper attached are as follows: Robert Mann, O. E. Hachmeister, S. H. Reeves, Chase Webb, Webb's Racket Store, The Wisconsin Butter Store, I. Kims, W. I. Scott, Thos. Burnette, H. B. Gaston, C. E. Shultz and Son, Bart Anderson, B. A. Ray, V. Bown, Wm. Keshman and Harry Radtke.

At the time of publication, it is held by the last named.

CO. TUBERCULOSIS ASSOCIATION MAKES ITS ANNUAL REPORT

Christmas Seal Sale Successful—Aids Wonderful Work in County

The wonderful work of the Lake County Tuberculosis Association, made possible through the sale of Christmas seals each year is shown in the annual report of the association, which is published this week. Much of the association's work is done among the school children of the county, and during the year just closed a total of 2,583 children were examined, according to the report. For this work a full-time nurse and a dental hygienist are employed.

Expresses Appreciation.

Well pleased with the results of the twenty-fourth annual Christmas seal sale, George B. Follett, treasurer, expresses the appreciation of the association in the following letter:

Dear Friends:

In behalf of the Lake County Tuberculosis Association, I wish to thank everyone who has aided us in our seal drive this year, by their loyal support and generous contributions.

What Christmas Seals Do.

The following summary of the annual report of the association shows the work being accomplished through the annual sale of Christmas seals—the "little savers of lives":

Number of school children examined, 2,583; chest examinations in monthly clinics, 279; chest X-rays taken, 48; children sent to Arden Shore camp, 6; patients taken to Chicago clinics, 3; children sent to Ridge Farm Preventorium, 5; assisted medical and dental associations with pre-school clinics, 4; number of health films shown, 17; tonsils and adenoids removed (arrangements made), 20.

For tuberculosis ward at county hospital—Purchased two radios, repaired furniture at county hospital and had it painted, bought eighteen pairs of pajamas, bought new rocking chairs, supplied patients with razor blades, playing cards and odd items of clothing, bought Christmas trees and decorations and provided for Christmas entertainment.

Employ a full-time nurse, a dental hygienist, and an office secretary.

AMERICAN LEGION HAVE BLOWOUT NEW YEAR'S EVE

American Legion boys and their invited guests are planning to make this year's New Year's eve party equal, if not surpass, those of former occasions. The affair will be held at the Danish Hall. Cards will be played from 8 o'clock until lunch is served, and then dancing will continue until 3 o'clock. Music for dancing will be furnished by Monty Hinton's Orchestra, according to Ray Webb, who is chairman of the entertainment committee.

Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Hurlington, of Kenosha, spent Christmas with Mrs. Margaret Brogan and Miss Mabel Brogan.

OLD GRADUATES MEET AGAIN AT ALUMNI BANQUET

Miss Cornelia Roberts Is Elected President for Year 1931

The fourth annual alumni banquet, which was held at the high school Tuesday evening, again attracted both old and recent graduates back to school day scenes. About eighty graduates were present, but husbands or wives of the graduates, members of the school board and speakers, swelled the attendance to nearly 150.

Miss Cornelia Roberts, a graduate of the class of '25, and present instructor at the high school, was chosen president by the nominating committee composed of Anna Drom, Albert Herman and Homer Tiffany, and approved by the other alumni. Louis Forbrich, '27, was elected vice president; William Morley, '19, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Mildred Halki Mann, '25, corresponding secretary; and Richard Folbrich, '29, advertising manager. A historian will be appointed.

The banquet was held in the new gymnasium, and was served by the Ladies' Guild of the Episcopal church. Father Frawley, spoke, grace. Ernest Cox, chairman of the evening and retiring president, gave a farewell speech, and introduced the new officers. Mr. Cox has carried the responsibility of presidency of the association in a manner highly creditable to himself and to the school.

George White, as president of the board of directors, spoke briefly, and Principal L. O. Bright summarized the present activities of the school. The chief speaker was C. K. Thomas, whose theme was "What is expected of the high school graduate," which he explained very concisely and interestingly. Several songs and solos were sung by the Lyric Male Quartet of Milwaukee, the most outstanding being Kilmer's "Trees," which they repeated upon request.

When the roll of classes was called it was found that fourteen of the class of '31 were present; class of '30 had ten; '29, eight; '28, six; '27, seven; '26, two; '25, ten; '24, five; '23, one; '22, one; '20, two; '19, two; '18, eight; '17, two. Two who had graduated in classes prior to 1912 were present.

PIONEER WOMAN PASSES AWAY SAT.

Survivor of Early Day Sioux Indian Massacre Dies at Age of 93

Mrs. Harvey J. Skiff, who bore the distinction of being one of the last survivors of the Sioux Indian Massacre, led by Sitting Bull at Spirit Lake, Ia., during the Civil War, passed away at the home of her son, Earl Skiff, Pettie Lake, Saturday evening, at the age of 93 years, thus bringing to a close an eventful life, during which she had witnessed and taken part in nearly a century of American history and progress.

Mrs. Lavina C. Skiff was born September 27, 1837, in Buffalo, N. Y. Before the Civil War had been declared, she moved to Iowa, the perilous journey being made by stage coach, as at that time no railroad existed in Iowa. While in the West she underwent all privations and harrowing experiences which fell to the lot of the early pioneers. It was during the Civil War, when she was living at Spirit Lake, that the Sioux Indian Massacre occurred.

She and her husband later moved to Newton, Ia., where they lived many years.

She is survived by one son, Earl Skiff with whom she was living. Another son died in 1915. She also leaves one sister, 89 years old, of Boone, Ia., the only survivor of a large family.

The body was shipped to Newton, Ia., on Tuesday, funeral services and burial taking place there Wednesday.

TRIAL OF TREE THIEVES IS HELD ON WEDNESDAY

The cases of Charles Foster, Lake Villa, and Peter Neumann, Wadon Corners, who were arrested on a charge of stealing trees from the nursery near Lake Villa, were heard Wednesday. They were arraigned Tuesday before Justice Henry W. Schaeffer, who stated that Foster had been sentenced to the county jail for failure to give bond.

This is the first case that comes here from Moline, Mo., since the court was organized.

The Antioch News wishes all a Happy New Year, and takes this opportunity to thank all whom it has been privileged to serve in the past.

There are many reasons why newspaper advertising is the best of all forms of publicity, but the one most commonly overlooked or stressed the least, is that it is the most economical. It costs less per thousand of circulation to carry a business message through the newspaper than it does to circulate it in the form of letters or circulars; and of the three, the newspaper message receives the most attention.

MAKING THE WORLD SAFE FOR BUREAUCRACY

Never before has politics played so dominating a part in our lives. Almost every possible act of the individual is controlled or supervised by some official body. The rights of the individual, like states' rights, are dwindling away. Instead of government by the people, we have government by commission.

If ever this nation needed less political hot air and more calm and collected statesmanship on the part of lawmakers, it needs it right now. It is going to be difficult for the servants of the people to disregard the basic problems of the country and devote most of their time to further their own political ambitions, without arousing public resentment.

The everlasting bid for votes is nauseating to say the least. Administrations brazenly claim glory and credit for public improvements made at the direct expense of the over-burdened tax-payer. Bids for favor in the city of Chicago and schemes concocted to get the vote of the great metropolitan area are so numerous that they have become almost age-old history in Illinois.

The people are sick of too much politics and too little business. They are tired of accusations against business for political effect with resulting discouragement of investments and employment.

Probably nothing would do more to relieve the strain of depression than to have the various state legislatures meet and adjourn and permit business to recover without any artificial stimulants and political patent medicines. The design of politics has leaned too strongly toward making the world safe for bureaucracy.

FORTY PER CENT WASTED!

William Bennett Munro of Harvard states that 40 per cent of every tax dollar spent in the United States is wasted, through unnecessary governmental activities, the shifting of responsibilities, duplication of activities and superfluous number of employees. He points out that, in times of stress, taxpayers are misled by empty promises, and respond to appeals to their feelings rather than their intelligence.

Probably every American community has had some experience with wasteful government. Experiments in business, retention of out-moded methods and dislike of modern innovations, political inertia—these and similar factors have cost American taxpayers untold millions of dollars.

H. S. TEAM TO PLAY BENSenville FRIDAY

Alumni Overwhelm School Team, 45-16; Second Game Close

The high school basket ball team, undefeated hitherto in any conference game this season, will play the Bensenville squad on the Bensenville floor Friday evening, January 2. Bensenville is a comparatively new school in the Northwest Conference, but its enrollment has been increasing rapidly, and already it is rated as having one of the most formidable conference teams.

Classes of '29 and '30 Play

Although a number of high school alumni turned out to witness their team defeat the high school squad Friday evening, 45-16, there was not as large a crowd as had been expected. The younger alumni of the classes of '29 and '30 played the high school team. E. Sheehan and D. Cremin, both students at the Marquette University at Milwaukee, were hot shots for the baskets and displayed some remarkably fine floor-work. H. Mastne, of the Illinois Wesleyan University at Bloomington, and D. Folbrick, of Antioch, ran up high individual scores. "Cowboy" McVell, an unusually strong guard, dribbled the ball the length of the floor, repeatedly. The school outfit also showed up well, considering that none of the first team regulars played, most of them being away on Christmas vacations. E. Hughes was high point man with three baskets, while Neahous, Van Patten, Walsh, O'Haver and McCormack each landed one. The alumni led during the entire game, but the Midgets held them for a brief period when they played.

Town Boys Take The Game

The second game was played between two alumni teams, one of them designated for the evening as the Town Team, the majority of the members being local men. After a close game, in which more skill was displayed than in the usual alumni games, the town team defeated the alumni by one basket, 22-20. During the first half, the alumni constantly held the lead; it appeared that they would be the winners without effort. But in the second half the town team staged a rally, and the third quarter ended in a tie, 14-14. They forged ahead in the last quarter, finally nailing the other team out by one basket. As in the other game, Dorre Cremin, Sheehan, Folbrick and Mastne were the chief basket-makers, with Don Cremin piling up seven points, and Hughes, Bernolfo, Schwenk and McNeil also scoring.

THE BARGAIN OF THE MONTH

This friendly heat pad comes in a useful cedar box

and together
they're only $7.95

(a $10.50 value)

This combination of a Hotpoint Electric Heat Pad and charming cedar chest is easily the Bargain of the Month at your Public Service Store. And you can buy them for only 95c down and $1 a month with no carrying charge.

The fleecy Hotpoint Heating Pad comes quickly to the rescue when there's a toothache, headache, carache or almost any kind of ache or pain in the family. It also makes a good bedfellow on wintry nights. The pad is soft and pliable and can be set to keep three different temperatures. Doctors recommend it for its therapeutic qualities. With it comes a handy washable slip cover.

You're bound to find a number of uses for the cedar box—a treasure chest for your jewelry... a handkerchief container... a box for cigars... a vanity case for cosmetics... to mention only a few. It is handily sized (12 x 10 x 2 1/2 inches) and carefully made of highly polished, aromatic cedar, trimmed in brass. And there's a key to lock it.

How to play Bridge AUCTION or CONTRACT by Wynne Ferguson

Author of "PRACTICAL AUCTION BRIDGE"

Copyright, 1930, by Hoyle, Jr.

ARTICLE No. 5

A number of times in these articles the writer has called attention to bluff bids that have either worked for or against the bluff bidder. Here, as a matter of variety, is an English version of the same thing, only over there such bidding is designated "Spot Bridge."

"How far is 'spot' admissible at 'Bridge'?" That is a very difficult question to answer. There is no law against a player bidding a suit he has not got, nor making any eccentric call that occurs to him. But, of course, all those who have a respect for the game view with horror these aberrations. I remember a rubber some years ago where I had as partner a Colonel of the old school who was very strict in his ideas as to how the game should be played.

At a score of game all he called "One No-Trump," holding:

Spades—A, Q, 2
Hearts—A, K, 4
Diamonds—J, 3, 2
Clubs—A, Q, 5, 4

A on his left went "Two Clubs." Y and B passed, and the Colonel called "Two No-Trump." A doubted, and all passed.

A then proceeded to lead out eight winning Diamonds. The veins bulged on the Colonel's forehead. He grew angrier and angrier as the game went on. When, finally, he discovered that the "Two Club" bidder had only the King and another Club in his hand, he rose from his seat. "I thought I was playing with gentlemen," he said. "A man who bids 'Two Clubs' with only two of the suit in his hand is not a Bridge player but a card sharper. I refuse to play any more."

Now the points that the Colonel in his wrath failed to see are that he need not have called "Two No-Trump." He could have doubled the "Two Clubs" bid, which would, of course, have been a mistake, as A would then have been obliged to bid his Diamonds, in which, however, he could not have gone game. Or he could have left in the "Two Clubs" bid, when A would have been hoist with his own petard, and would have gone down on his contract.

I am not in favor of bluff bids, but there is always this to be said about the bluffer, that he takes the risk of having his bluff called. If a player likes to take the risk I do not see that there is anything to prevent him doing so, nor can I agree that he has done anything absolutely unfair. It is difficult, and fast line between what is legitimate bluff and what is dishonest.

Problem

Hearts—none
Clubs—A, 6, 4
Diamonds—A, Q, J, 9, 7, 6, 4
Spades—A, J, 9

Hearts—J, 6, 4
Clubs—K, 8, 7, 3, 2
Diamonds—10, 5
Spades—5, 3, 2

Hearts—A, K, 10, 9, 2
Clubs—Q, J
Diamonds—none
Spades—Q, 10, 7, 6, 5, 4

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and bid one spade. A passed. Y bid two diamonds and A passed. Z now bid two hearts. A passed and Y bid two no-trumps. A passed and A opened the ten of clubs. How should Z play the hand so that he can score a grand slam against any defense?

Solution: Y should win the first club with the ace and lead the ace of diamonds on which Z should discard his last club. Y should then lead a low diamond and trump in Z's hand with a few spades. Z should now lead the ace of hearts and discard Y's two no-trumps. At trick six Z should lead the ace of spades and win the trick. Y's hand with the ace. Y should now lead another low diamond, which Z should trump with the queen of spades. At trick eight, Z should lead a low spade and win the trick in Y's hand with the nine. Y should now lead a low diamond which Z should trump with the ten of spades. At trick ten, Z should lead his last spade, winning the trick in Y's hand with the jack. Y's diamonds are now set up and must win the remaining tricks.

It is a fairly easy problem but must be handled very carefully or a trick can easily be lost. Follow the solution as given very carefully and compare it with your own. Such comparisons may very easily be of advantage.

SHIFT YOUR DIGESTION INTO "HIGH"

By E. V. McCollum, Ph.D., Sc.D.

Author of "The Newer Knowledge of Nutrition," "Food, Nutrition and Health," etc., Professor of Bio-Chemistry, School of Hygiene and Public Health, Johns Hopkins University.

NATURE is an engineer, striving continuously and furiously to regulate the body's supply and elimination of food. The giant molecules of proteins, starches and fats, entering two of Nature's special laboratories, the stomach and small intestine, are there broken up into smaller fragments which can be absorbed into the blood and recombined to become part of our muscles, blood or organs.

But Nature, as the body's engineer, has another function equally important. It must protect the blood, muscles and organs from food fragments which are useless, unwholesome and more or less injurious. For beneficent Nature is not the only force with the power to break up the giant molecules of foods into smaller, usable fragments. Bacteria have the same power. But, like the work of evil workmen, the final chips produced from the big blocks by bacteria are of the wrong kind, and have no business in the blood stream.

How may we co-operate with Nature? First by eating clean foods and keeping the mouth clean. Then what enters the stomach will not be seeded with bacteria which decompose foodstuffs into things which are unwholesome. Next, we may exercise care in the keeping and handling of foods. Everyone knows that an inefficient refrigerator, careless handling, or staleness from any cause, will lead to the bacterial decomposition of foods. The resulting "indigestion," caused by the fermentation of such unwholesome foods in the intestine or stomach, is, unfortunately, still more familiar.

The Seat of Digestion
The person in normal health who eats clean and wholesome foods has a clean mouth, stomach, and, usually, also a clean intestine in its upper half. But the large intestine is a different matter. That organ is likely to be found more and more the seat of rotting and fermentative processes which produce noxious and unwholesome products. In the large intestine or colon of most people large amounts of toxic products are constantly being formed. These are absorbed into the portal blood-vessel system and pass directly into the liver. The pollution of the blood with these somewhat poisonous products, and the ensuing detrimental effects on the liver, kidneys and body as a whole, have been stressed by many physicians.

Bad breath—that bugbear of the refined—is in many persons the result of impaired liver function, due to liver injury resulting from prolonged bathing of liver cells with a blood stream overloaded with putrefactive products. Up to a certain point the liver cells are able to destroy these. After this point is reached, the blood becomes saturated with them, and they are in part eliminated by the lungs. The result is bad breath.

We are constantly feeding into the blood another class of useless food fragments. Although not poisonous like the first, they are foreign matter and circulate as mere trash in the blood and lymph. They are created in the following manner:—
When bread, rolls or other starchy foods are browned, as is the crust in baking, some of the surface molecules of starch are violently decomposed by the high tempera-

An Effective Aid
Eating the proper amount of indigestible cellulose is one of the most effective means of helping the intestine with its engineering operations. Of course, many other agencies have been devised to effect the same end. One, for instance, is the replacement of the putrefactive bacteria in the colon with certain milk souring bacteria. These tend to form clean products from food residues and discourage the growth of those injurious microorganisms which normally abound in the colon.

Still another method, much used nowadays, is that of taking mineral oil. This is bland and non-irritating and is not absorbed into the blood. Therefore, it usually is considered harmless. But there are effects from its use which are not generally appreciated. The paraffin oil used is insoluble in water. It covers the food particles, waterproofing them, and preventing contact with the digestive juices. Digestion is thus hampered and delayed. And this delay in digestion is, as you shall see, a serious matter.

When paraffin oil is taken to promote elimination, the food is more effectively oiled than by ordinary fats, and stomach digestion is both delayed and decreased. Thus food entering the intestine is not prepared for the next steps in the digestive process.

The Role of Cellulose
That this is recognized is shown by the fact that some recommend meals. But some of the promoters of paraffin oil for medicinal purposes insist that it is best taken mixed with the food during the meal. This method of promoting intestinal hygiene by the use of mineral oil is based, I am convinced, upon an unsound principle. Intestinal regulation is best promoted by the use of a complete and wholesome diet containing bland and water-holding vegetable cellulose, which does not digest, and therefore gives the intestine the consistency of bulky material, of a consistency favorable to transportation, upon which to function mechanically.

Dividend Printing

There is one kind of printing that you want—printing that pays a dividend on the investment.
A letterhead with right sort of type properly balanced is a real business asset. It wins the approval of the person receiving your letter, and while he is in this frame of mind your letter is read.
The same reasoning applies to any other job of printing. Neatness, the right weight and kind of paper, the color of the ink, the selection of the type, all play an important part in the production of dividend printing.
We are equipped to give you the kind of printing that pays a dividend to you.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Truth" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, January 25.

The Golden Text was, "O Lord, thou art my God; I will exalt thee; I will praise thy name; for thou hast done wonderful things; thy counsels of old are faithfulness and truth" (Isaiah 25:1).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "O Praise the Lord, all ye nations; praise him, all ye people. For his merciful kindness is great toward us; and the truth of the Lord endureth for ever" (Psalms 117:1, 2).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook: "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Mortals try to believe without understanding Truth; yet God is Truth" (p. 312).

Methodist Episcopal Church
Phillip T. Bohl, Minister

The services for Sunday, January 4, 1931, are: Sunday school at 9:30. Morning worship at 10:45, at which time the Holy Communion service will be held. The choir will sing. The Epworth League will meet at 6 o'clock. The Thimble Bee society will not meet this week, but will meet next week and the monthly business items will be transacted. The place of the meeting has not yet been determined. The members of the Epworth League are participating in a Watch Night party on New Year's eve. The party will be held at the parsonage. Seventeen members of the choir sang the cantata, "Chimes of the Holy Night," at the Grayslake church Sunday evening.

BRISTOL RECEIVES NEWS OF DEATH OF FRANK BARTER

Mrs. James Karnes, Wife of Former Bristol Man, Passes Away

Bristolites learned with deep regret today of the sudden death, December 22, of Frank Barter, 53, at Barrington, Ill. The deceased, a native of Kenosha County, was an engineer for many years with the Northwestern Railroad company on the Kenosha division.

Three weeks ago he was shifted to the Harvard-Barrington run. Barter was born in Pleasant Prairie, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Barter. He was educated in the schools there and he also graduated from Kenosha high school.

At an early age he became interested in engineering and worked with the Northwestern company for many years, where he established a splendid record of efficient service.

He married Mrs. Lulu Rowbottom, of Bristol village.

The deceased is survived by his widow and three sons, Frederick, Robert and Edward, all at home in Harvard, Ill. Three sisters and two brothers also survive. They are: Mrs. Arthur Gaines, Kenosha; Mrs. Clara Bullamore, Somers; Mrs. Nellie Winslow, Oakley, Kans.; Arthur and F. D. Barter, Pleasant Prairie. A sister, Mrs. Clarence (Edith) Brady, died four years ago at Wilmington, Del.

Funeral services were held last Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home in Harvard, with the burial in the cemetery of that community.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Gaines, Mr. and Mrs. Bryant Benson, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Burgess and Mrs. Mary Rowbottom attended the funeral.

News of the death of Mrs. James Karnes Saturday, of Oak Park, Ill., has been received here. Mrs. Karnes was born March 11, 1881, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hans Lindas. She attended school at Edgerton, and after graduation from high school there she went to Kenosha, where she was united in marriage to J. H. Karnes, Jr., a former resident of South Bristol. She is survived by her husband, a daughter, Mrs. Olive Nicholas, of Oak Park, and a son, Thomas, of Oak Park, her father, Hans Lindas, of Kenosha, and a sister, Ida Lindas, of Minneapolis. Interment was in Green Ridge cemetery, Kenosha.

Election of officers for the Bristol M. E. Sunday school was held Monday evening at the parsonage and resulted thus: Superintendent, Mrs. Maude Murdoch; assistant superintendent, Mrs. Genevieve Jorgensen; secretary, Francis Foulke; treasurer, Alfred Pohlman; organist, Catherine Jones; superintendent cradle roll, Mrs. Vera Smith; superintendent home department, Mrs. Nettie E. Gethen; superintendent missionary department, Miss Mayme Mitchell.

The twenty-second annual meeting of the South Bristol Cemetery Association was held Friday afternoon at the Edward E. Powell home for transaction of business and election of officers. J. R. Smith, Kenosha, was re-elected president of the board of directors. E. R. Powell and Frank Gethen were re-elected as directors. Eugene Shuart was elected as successor to his father, Mrs. J. R. Smith was re-elected as secretary-treasurer for the twenty-third term.

John Potahl, of Pleasant Prairie, was given a complete birthday surprise party Sunday afternoon. About twenty friends and relatives were present.

Miss Florence Moore, a granddaughter of Turner Bacon, deceased, was hurt, although not seriously, December 23, when the car in which she was riding overturned, killing the driver, her fiancé, Dr. Louis Royce, of Harvard, Ill., who averted to avoid a freight train, when returning from Richmond.

Mr. and Mrs. William Foulke entertained the Wilfred Pearce family, of Kansasville, and Miss Jessie Shumway, Chicago, Christmas.

Mrs. Frank Horn, of Oshkosh, spent last week at the Abe DeVuyt home.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Wienke held a family gathering, Christmas, for Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wienke, of Rochester, Miss Janet Koehn, of Kenosha, Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Wienke and the David Griffith family.

Mrs. J. T. Gessler, who teaches school in Osseo, Wis., spent Christmas day and the holiday vacation with her daughter, Mrs. Charles E. Olson, and family.

Mrs. Ross Black spent Christmas with her sister, Mrs. M. P. Bordwell, in Belvidere, Ill.

A family gathering was held at the Samuel Knapp home. Those present were the Ernest Knapp family, of Racine; the Stanley Braund family, of North Cape; Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Knapp, of Woodworth; and the Glen Knapp family. Mrs. Braund and family remained several days.

Miss Jessie Bice, teacher in Bristol grade school, spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Calender, in Union Grove, and will spend the remainder of her vacation at her home in Beaver, Wis.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thorne and Arch Murdoch, her father, entertained at the Thorne home Christmas. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Gottman, of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Watkins, of Evanston; Mr. and Mrs. George Brown, the Misses Alice and Beulah Brown, Alfred Pohlman, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Bishop, and Emory Bishop.

Paul Woodbury and daughter, Miss Evelyn, spent Sunday with Mrs. Nellie Woodbury, in Alden.

Mrs. Hattie Hollister had the misfortune to fall Friday, while pumping a pail of water, causing considerable injury to her ribs.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Crosby, of Kenosha, and their guest, Elmer Gethen, of Rockford, Ill., spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gethen and were supper guests.

Francis Long, of Milwaukee, is spending a few days with the Waldron family.

Past Masters' night of Washburn lodge, No. 145, A. F. and A. M., was observed Saturday evening. An oyster supper was served during the intermission, by the ladies of the Eastern Star.

TREVOR HORSE SALES TO START ON FRIDAY

Plan New Year's Eve Party to Be Held at Social Center Hall

One hundred and twenty-five cows were sold at the auction sale at the stockyards Tuesday. The first horse sale of the year will be held Friday, January 2, with 100 horses for sale. These sales will continue each Friday during the year.

The card and bunco party at Social Center hall on Saturday evening was well patronized. Fifteen tables of 500 and nine tables of bunco were played. There will be a party New Year's eve. The prize winners in 500 were Mrs. Richard Moran, Mrs. Joe Saleer, Alvin Moran and Caesar Mizzen; in bunco, Katherine Derler, Susie Kauten, Mr. Stevens and Albert Mizzen.

Master Harley Shottliff, Wilmet, is spending a few days with his grandfather, Elbert Kennedy.

Miss Phyllis Tod, of Berwyn, Ill., spent the week-end with her aunt, Mrs. Ambrose Runyard.

The Misses Daisy and Myrtle Mickle spent Christmas eve with their brother, Harold, at St. Luke's hospital, in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Smith spent Christmas day with the latter's sister, Mrs. Samuel Mathews, and family, at Silver Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. William Evans entertained at dinner on Christmas their daughter, Mrs. George Rohnow, and family, of Kenosha, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sibley and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hawkins and sons, of Antioch.

Mr. Ottilia Schumacher had as dinner guests on Christmas, her daughter, Mrs. Lizale Hamer, and son and daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schumacher and son, of Kenosha. Bernice Hamer remained for a visit.

Harold Mickle returned home Sunday after spending the past three weeks at St. Luke's hospital, recovering from an auto accident.

SYNOPSIS

CHAPTER I—Renewing a childish attachment, Ernestine Briceford, of a wealthy Chicago family, is tremendously attracted by Will, a poor, but talented, and somewhat eccentric, artist. Her sister, Lillian, more of a conventional type, and aware of the attitude of her father toward her, leaves her marriage to Ernestine to find the daughter, but Ernestine, capable of a passionate attachment, and realizing that Will would have found her at last, refuses.

CHAPTER II—The love-making progresses swiftly, and finally, largely because of Ernestine's urging, they are married. Ernestine, however, is a being of a different type, and Ernestine, who is a wealthy young lady, and Lillian, who is a poor girl, begin their married life in a humble neighborhood. Ernestine realizes the difference, but, secure in her love, faces the future bravely.

CHAPTER III—John Poole, Will's best friend, successful though disheartened, gives a birthday party for Ernestine at Ruby Pastano's home. Ernestine, however, is a being of a different type, and Ernestine, who is a wealthy young lady, and Lillian, who is a poor girl, begin their married life in a humble neighborhood. Ernestine realizes the difference, but, secure in her love, faces the future bravely.

CHAPTER IV—Reproaching him for leaving her "unprotected" in his new home, Ernestine takes an attitude of approaching motherhood, and in an attempt to protect her, she opens a small sewing academy.

CHAPTER V—Will's father, who has been a successful business man, suddenly, a suggestion that the future of the house being small, meets with the refusal of Ernestine, who is a wealthy young lady, and Lillian, who is a poor girl, begin their married life in a humble neighborhood. Ernestine realizes the difference, but, secure in her love, faces the future bravely.

CHAPTER VI—Pastano acquires a home at Langley lake, a picturesque resort, where the Bricefords have a home. Ernestine, however, is a being of a different type, and Ernestine, who is a wealthy young lady, and Lillian, who is a poor girl, begin their married life in a humble neighborhood. Ernestine realizes the difference, but, secure in her love, faces the future bravely.

CHAPTER VII—Unconscious, Ernestine is taken to a hospital, where Will, who is a poor, but talented, and somewhat eccentric, artist, finds her. Ernestine, however, is a being of a different type, and Ernestine, who is a wealthy young lady, and Lillian, who is a poor girl, begin their married life in a humble neighborhood. Ernestine realizes the difference, but, secure in her love, faces the future bravely.

CHAPTER VIII—Poole's death causes the closing of the studio. Financial difficulties again confront Will and Ernestine. She frets and becomes irritated, but Ernestine, who is a wealthy young lady, and Lillian, who is a poor girl, begin their married life in a humble neighborhood. Ernestine realizes the difference, but, secure in her love, faces the future bravely.

CHAPTER IX—Lillian, who is a wealthy young lady, and Ernestine, who is a poor girl, begin their married life in a humble neighborhood. Ernestine realizes the difference, but, secure in her love, faces the future bravely.

CHAPTER X—Lillian, who is a wealthy young lady, and Ernestine, who is a poor girl, begin their married life in a humble neighborhood. Ernestine realizes the difference, but, secure in her love, faces the future bravely.

CHAPTER XI—Lillian, who is a wealthy young lady, and Ernestine, who is a poor girl, begin their married life in a humble neighborhood. Ernestine realizes the difference, but, secure in her love, faces the future bravely.

CHAPTER XII—Lillian, who is a wealthy young lady, and Ernestine, who is a poor girl, begin their married life in a humble neighborhood. Ernestine realizes the difference, but, secure in her love, faces the future bravely.

CHAPTER XIII—Lillian, who is a wealthy young lady, and Ernestine, who is a poor girl, begin their married life in a humble neighborhood. Ernestine realizes the difference, but, secure in her love, faces the future bravely.

CHAPTER XIV—Lillian, who is a wealthy young lady, and Ernestine, who is a poor girl, begin their married life in a humble neighborhood. Ernestine realizes the difference, but, secure in her love, faces the future bravely.

CHAPTER XV—Lillian, who is a wealthy young lady, and Ernestine, who is a poor girl, begin their married life in a humble neighborhood. Ernestine realizes the difference, but, secure in her love, faces the future bravely.

CHAPTER XVI—Lillian, who is a wealthy young lady, and Ernestine, who is a poor girl, begin their married life in a humble neighborhood. Ernestine realizes the difference, but, secure in her love, faces the future bravely.

CHAPTER XVII—Lillian, who is a wealthy young lady, and Ernestine, who is a poor girl, begin their married life in a humble neighborhood. Ernestine realizes the difference, but, secure in her love, faces the future bravely.

CHAPTER XVIII—Lillian, who is a wealthy young lady, and Ernestine, who is a poor girl, begin their married life in a humble neighborhood. Ernestine realizes the difference, but, secure in her love, faces the future bravely.

CHAPTER XIX—Lillian, who is a wealthy young lady, and Ernestine, who is a poor girl, begin their married life in a humble neighborhood. Ernestine realizes the difference, but, secure in her love, faces the future bravely.

but I can't sell them. When I sat down to write to you what was there to say? I would resolve to try again, hoping to have some wonderful news for you. I've not been eating or sleeping—I missed you so, and I repented so my selfishness with you, and my attitude toward your family. I've not been reasonable, or fair—or generous. I felt that you were slipping away from me, because I couldn't hold you—because I didn't rate you."

These pictures moved Ernestine profoundly. Weeks of work, and nothing sold. The fear of losing her and the children, and the need to stick at the thing he was trying to do until he did it. She could feel in him a sharp pain of restlessness and discouragement, and her love poured out on him. "Darling—it doesn't matter. I can stay here with mamma all summer. She understands. I can stay here until you get your comic strip right. They understand that it's you and I together always, Will."

"Don't cry, darling."

"It doesn't mean a thing," she told him and added with some whimsicality, "It's my condition, darling. I am simply weepy, and when I think how near I came to doing something that would have ruined all my life and yours—"

"You couldn't—you didn't—not even nearly, Ernestine."

Peter had come up to them, and, seeing his mother's tears, he began to weep, and Ernestine, crowded close and thrust out a trembling lip. Will drew their attention from Ernestine, and gravely, abstractedly, he began to amuse them. He marked out the old familiar squares.

"Make a cat, Daddy—make a cat," commanded Peter, and Will, listening to Ernestine, but only half attentive, began to put down the cats that Peter loved so, the squares for a drawing board, a bit of stick for a pencil, the firm wet sand making a good plaque.

The child screamed with joyous mirth, and Elaine, beside him, clapped her hands with delight.

"Tubby cat's got his head stuck in a tin can. Look, Mamma!"

Will's attention swerved from Ernestine. He sat staring at what he had drawn, as though at a stranger's work. His face wore a startled look. The small squares, in which two ridiculous cats went through a ridiculous adventure. Suddenly he leaped to his feet and gave a whoop which a Commanche Indian might have envied.

"Don't worry—our fortune is made. Can't you see—there it is. Not Mr. Poole's old comic strip in any way, shape or form, but my own damned old cats? Even the children can see it. Trust me a few days longer."

The cats were in great success. When fall came Will was working on the Sun again, in Mr. Poole's old office, under a three-year contract. The cat drawings were valued at sixty dollars a strip the first year, and more the second and third. Six days a week for sixty dollars a day. A full page for the Sunday supplement, in color, at a special price. The tide of money and prestige poured in on them in a startling way. The movie people made attractive offers. Will knew how to make animated movies.

The Todds moved into a Colonial home only about a mile from mamma's. They had rented the house "to see how they liked it" with the possibility of buying it in their minds. Will offered the West side house in on a trade, but Ernestine would not sell the little house.

"You never can tell," she insisted, and though Will laughed at this, he did not resist her tenderness toward the house.

Papa established the trust funds. Money poured in upon them in the ridiculous and unreasonable way in which money behaves. It seemed now that nothing was too nice for the Todds. The new baby was born under the most promising conditions. In the Colonial room in the modern and beautiful home. A boy, long limbed and with a pointed face, like Will's.

Lillian was with Ernestine every day, and Ernestine noticed for the first time that Lillian's beauty was fading. She hung over the new baby, she was gentle with Peter and Elaine, who visited their mother at every possible moment. Once when the two had been watching the nurse bathe the newcomer and wrap him doddily in binder and cloth, turning him about in her hands while he gave soft grunts and sighs of satisfaction, and then at last tucked him in snowy blankets into the curve of Ernestine's arm, with a little spunk and tender scolding, Lillian looked at Ernestine with tears in her eyes.

"I wish," she said, "that it had been this baby's birth that Loring knew about." Her voice trailed away and Ernestine tingled with a sense of guilt. So that was why Lillian had no children!

"It's hard for people who haven't children to understand how quickly all the woes of bearing them are forgotten. I never think of that old time, any more, and I'm sure Will doesn't. Anyhow—if it had been worse, don't you think Elaine was worth it?"

"Yes," said Lillian, "of course she is. But it was a dreadful time, Ernestine. I don't believe you have ever known how near you came to dying. It was a terrible time for all of us."

"After all," smiled the younger sister, "in such a case an inch is as good as a mile. That whole dark time—it was all so wrong, apparently, for me to have that second baby, and now wild horses couldn't tear her from us. You can't always plan things out."

Later, Will came in, and found Ernestine alone.

"Remember that murder car you saw at Pastano's last summer?"

"Of course. I'll never forget it."

"Well, the new district attorney has arrested six of Pastano's relatives. It seems these men were killed in a fight with another bunch of gangsters. But these fellows were Pastano's men, and the next night they got the others with a machine gun, and now they're all locked up—both gangs. Loring has undertaken to get ball for them and get them off. Of course, it's quite respectable in Chicago to defend the most notorious criminal before the bar, but mamma doesn't like this. It was too close to home."

Ernestine could not help but smile at the twist Will could give to that word "mamma." Yet strangely, her mother and her husband had arrived at a basis of mutual understanding and liking since Will had been making his comic strip. Will said mamma was right about things. "Of course she wanted her daughter to marry a good provider," exclaimed Will, "just as you will want Elaine to marry a man who can take care of her. Mamma Briceford is too good a mother to be satisfied with less. And besides, she's pragmatic. She's got something to be proud of now, and delighted to have it. I tell you, Ernestine, I think Loring has won it a bit thin, with his greediness and business and always reminding them that he made papa rich."

Ernestine wondered if she would want Elaine to marry a good provider, and suddenly she felt in her heart a strong loyalty to the difficulties that had beset their ways.

"I don't care whether the children are rich or poor," she told Will. "But I want them to love and suffer, and to have hardships—I want them to live—and value life. I do, Will. I don't want it to be easy for them. Having things too easy is one form of poverty when you think about it."

STRIKES TWELVEWhat Resolutions Have You Made Regarding Your Children?

The candle burns lower, lower, slowly melting away. It sits in the window under the wreath of holly, so brave, so little, watching the old year out. Are you there, too, watching, and waiting jubilantly for the new year to be heralded in? Some mothers will be at home on this night; others will be having an exciting time at some dance or hilarious New Year's party.

Nearly everyone does gaily watch the New Year in at some gala place or another, which is most human. Philosophers may smile at the inconsistency of a bleary-eyed person commencing his New Year's resolutions a few hours late, and reformers lament. But what ho!

Seriously, though, the ideal way would be to make a resolution every time the need arose, but human nature being what it is, the idea lacks practicability. So, it is a very good thing that day has been appointed by some one to "turn over a new leaf." Mothers have a serious responsibility in training their children, and it seems that some one is always insisting that job with more do's and eternal exhortations. We cannot here advise, except in a general way, what resolutions to make regarding the training of the children. You know best what your failings and their faults are: If you have a quick temper, try to curb it; if you have been too "easy," with a spoiled child to show, draw up the reins; and vice versa. Overcoming impatience, nervousness or too many "don'ts," or instilling manners, neatness, in fact any of the major virtues, is sometimes a tough job, but if you keep a definite aim in mind, sticking to a resolution can be fun.

Driving through cities and villages on Christmas eve can be as thrilling as an old-fashioned sleigh ride. One can look in no direction without beholding Christmas trees with their brilliant variegated colored lights, on lawns, in windows, on porches, on street corners. Outdoor Christmas trees have come into favor within recent years, but this year saw a decided increase, at least in the vicinity of Antioch.

It is now winter, but, as A. S. M. Hutchinson said, "Can spring be far behind?" When Arbor Day comes again, plant a Christmas tree. If every property owner did that, think what a gorgeous fairyland America would appear to be on Christmas eve. Soon that night would be renowned throughout the nations of the world, and visitors from foreign shores would flock to our land to enjoy the "wonder."

Hints For Homemakers

By Jane Rogers

A MASTER clock in the home, by which all the other timepieces can be regulated and correct time secured, is a boon alike to the housewife who must start children off to school and the man of the house who must be at his place of business on time. A modern electric clock that plugs into the wall and can't lose or gain a second without giving a warning signal, admirably meets the need.

When packing dresses in trunks or suitcases it's always wise to place tissue paper in the spaces between folds to prevent creases.

Hints For Homemakers

By Jane Rogers

IT'S difficult to time waffles accurately without the use of a timepiece, and watching the hands of a watch is ruinous to conversation. An egg timer will solve the problem. The three minutes is just about right for the average waffle iron, and it's easy to watch the running sand without too much concentration.

Fruit fritters with the meat course add a distinctive and doubly welcome touch now that appetites are sharpened by brisk autumn days. Prepare sweetened batter and fry in deep fat exactly as doughnuts are cooked. The fat should be hot enough to brown a piece of bread in 60 seconds. Drain on clean brown paper and sprinkle with powdered sugar just before serving.

Boost the street on which you're dwelling;
Boost the goods that you are selling.

Boost the people, 'round about you—
They can get along without you.
But success will quicker find them
If they know that you're behind them.

Boost for every forward movement.
Boost for every new improvement.
Boost the man for whom you labor,
Boost the stranger and the neighbor.

Cease to be a chronic knocker,
Cease to be a progress blocker—
If you'd make your city better,
Boost it to the final letter.

Hula Costume

To make a real hula costume, it requires from 40 to 50 ft. plant leaves, depending on the size of the dancer. It takes approximately three hours to weave a skirt, the life of which is three days.

Commence the New
Year by Starting a
Potted Plant Parade

Too late! Oh, why, if one must occasionally be overpowered by an idea, does it come too late! A perfectly lovely Christmas gift suggestion just popped into my head, and look at the date. Better late than never? I wonder. However, this is an idea that is appropriate for most occasions, and the first of the year is a good time to begin, when everyone is thinking up resolutions. The suggestion was: Give a potted plant to mother for Christmas. Here's the remainder: Begin a bay-window nursery this year. To start the New Year out with a really fresh idea, purchase one plant from a florist or at a greenhouse, and inquire the correct manner of tending it. Then every month, or every anniversary, a new plant could be added, until soon you would possess a fine collection of healthy plants, in which you would take much pride, for the sake of the flowers themselves, and for the compliments which they would bring. You will seldom want for a centerpiece, and greenery does add life to a room in the dead of winter.

FOR ALL OCCASIONS

When the school bells again call the owners of reluctant or eager feet back to study after the Christmas vacation, excited cries of wonder, admiration, or jealousy will greet the possessors of new clothes, while appraising eyes rove over the apparel of those loitering in the halls. For the winter round of sports, jackets of some kind are a necessity. The co-eds pictured above are clad in three of the most popular styles—the sweater, which is always in favor, in any color or weave, of pure wool, in a round or V-neck; the leather coat, in colors of red, green, or brown, which is warm, and decidedly the "thing" for sports; and the suede windbreaker, classy, soft, and also ideal for sports.

Start the New Day Right
With An Appetizing MealBy JOSEPHINE B. GIBSON

PHYSICIANS long have stressed the importance of a good breakfast. There is such a lengthy fast between this meal and the dinner of the night before that the body needs food. And an inadequate breakfast makes for ragged nerves and lessened efficiency.

If one does not care for breakfast, the trouble usually will be found to lie in the monotony of breakfast menus. So let's put the sunshine and hope of a new day into every one of these important meals!

Below you will find listed a number of menus and recipes that are easily prepared, and that are sufficiently varied to interest even the most jaded breakfast appetite.

Breakfast Betty: Heat Rice Flakes in oven. Have ready hot apple sauce, mashed prunes or apricots, or other thick fruit sauce. In a serving dish alternate three layers of Rice Flakes and two of the cooked fruit. Serve warm with cream or fruit juice.

Rice Flake Muffins: 1 cup rice (uncooked); 2 cups milk; 1/2 cup sugar; 1/2 cup oil; 1/2 cup baking powder; 1/2 cup salt; 1/2 cup raisins; 1/2 cup nuts.

Mix and sift flour, sugar, baking powder, and salt. Beat egg yolks thoroughly, add milk, and then add to dry ingredients, beating thoroughly. Add melted butter and fold in stiffly-beaten egg white. Add Rice Flakes and bake in a hot waffle iron.

Fried Breakfast Wheat Mush: Allow cooked Breakfast Wheat to set. Cut in slices, fry in a small amount of butter to a golden brown and serve with maple syrup or Pure Apple Butter.

MILLBURN MAN IS HONORED AT BIRTHDAY PARTYDenman Families Gather for Christmas Reunion at
W. A. Bonner Home

J. S. Denman was pleasantly surprised on Christmas night when about sixty of his friends of the Adult Bible Class gathered at his home in honor of his birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bonner entertained on Christmas day with the following guests for dinner: Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Denman; of Gurnee, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Denman and children, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Denman and daughters, and Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Denman and sons, of Waukegan.

On Tuesday night the children of the Sunday school gave their entertainment to a crowded house. The children were more than pleased by the appearance of Mrs. Santa along with Santa Claus.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin and son Richard, spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Achen, near Kenosha. Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Pierfort and daughters, Margaret and Ruth, spent Wednesday and Thursday with Mrs. Beck, in Evanston. Margaret remained for a week's visit with her grandmother.

Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Bonner and children were guests for dinner at the Victor Strang home in Waukegan on Christmas day.

Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Edwards and children spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. J. Kaluf, of Grange Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Bauman and children were entertained for dinner on Thursday at the Charles Holdridge home near Waukegan.

Dr. and Mrs. H. E. Jamison and Doris spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. George White.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Edwards and sons Webb and Marc, and Mr. and Mrs. John Dickey and son, of River Forest, spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Webb.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Bonner, Vivien Bonner and Annie and Ella McCredie spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Bonner.

Word was received Friday of the death of Henry Patch in Los Angeles, Calif. where he had gone to spend the winter with his sister. His body will be brought back for burial in Millburn cemetery.

Rev. Charles Pierstorff, of Poyntette, Wis., visited Patch in Los Angeles, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schwicht entertained their children from Chicago, on Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Ames, of Gurnee, spent Sunday at J. G. Bonner's home.

TOPPY'S TRAVELS

Synopsis: Toppo leaves his home to follow his canary, Linny, who flies away. After many adventures, he is captured by the Pillow, enemies of his Cloud-Queen, whom he tried to save. He escapes, and his friend, Toy, discovers who has the key to a room which gives power to his Queen. Continue:

Toppo's eyes shone with happiness. He had been so hungry and discouraged before, that this news seemed too wonderful to be true.

But Mr. Frog saw more difficulties. "How could the Queen get to the pool room, even if we get the key?"

"I have my sword," Toppo answered forlornly, for he realized that he and his sword would not have much effect against the guards stationed about the garden in front of the Cloud-Queen's prison.

"We'll have to get the key, if possible, and then wait until something happens. We might be able to capture Egopl, again, but I doubt it."

Mr. Frog sat all hunched up for an hour, thinking. Whenever Toppo or Toy ventured to say a word, he told them crossly to keep silent. At length, he blinked his eyes, and drawled, "As our wise young friend remarked an hour or so ago, the next step is to get the key from the 'Innocent' young page."

Toppo knew then that he had reached a solution of the problem, but did not dare to ask Mr. Frog.

"Where does the page live?" he asked Toy.

"He has a room in the palace, but he lives with his mother and father. He has some strong older brothers, too." Little Toy shivered, remembering the size of those big strong Pillows.

"Toppo will have to get the key," Mr. Frog decided, "because Toy is too small to carry it. Tonight, I will go into the garden, and shout till all the soldiers and guards are called out of the Palace. Then you can find the page, and take the key from him."

"But isn't that dangerous?" Toppo asked. "Won't they catch you?"

"Of course it is dangerous," Mr. Frog snorted, "but they will have to be pretty smart to catch me."

"The page may go into the garden, too," Toppo objected.

"All Men Are—"

A kind-hearted old gentleman saw a farmer beating a man with a horse-whip, and intervened.
 "Why are you being so cruel?" he said; "anyone can see the poor fellow is half-witted."
 "He attacked me," growled the farmer, "besides he's an idiot. He gives no end of trouble on the farm."
 "But," said the old gentleman, "you should remember that idiots are men just like you and me."

Ways of Women

A colored girl employed in a downtown Indianapolis restaurant, spoke pleasantly to a white man seated at one of the tables.
 "Howdy do, sir?" she said.
 "Oh, hello!" the customer responded.

"You don't know him?" another waitress said.
 "Yes, I do. Say, I used to work at his home. He's a glad man with a mean wife."—Indianapolis News.

Famous English Radical

Peter Porcupine was the nom de plume of William Cobbett when he was a Tory, says an article in Pathfinder Magazine. "Porcupine Papers" are preserved in 12 volumes. Cobbett was born in 1762 and he died in 1833. He was one of the most brilliant and famous political and social agitators and pamphleteers of England. At one time he was compelled to leave his own country and he continued his agitation in America.

Historic Blarney Castle

Blarney castle was built about 1446 by Cormac McCarthy. It has walls which, in places, are as thick as 18 feet. The fame of the castle is bound up in the civil history of the country and the war of the Great Rebellion. The famous Blarney stone is near the top of the wall. Promises and flattering speeches delayed the surrender of the castle in medieval times and from this fact it is supposed that the tradition concerning the Blarney stone arose.

AGED LAKE COUNTY RESIDENT DIES IN LOS ANGELES SAT.

Henry Patch, A Foremost Mason and Farmer, Taken by Heart Attack

Henry Patch, known by many as "Uncle Sam," who died suddenly in Los Angeles, Calif., from a heart attack, last Friday, will be buried with Masonic honors at the Millburn cemetery on Friday afternoon.

Mr. Patch left for California December 16, arriving in Los Angeles the following Saturday. He became ill on Sunday, but was not taken to the hospital until Wednesday. He died there Friday.

He was born in Rockport, N. Y., seventy-seven years ago, on May 30, 1853. When still a young man, he came west, and was married to Miss Jane Heel over forty years ago, at Dorham, Kans.

Thirty-three years ago, he moved to a farm near Russell, Ill., where he lived until two years ago, when he sold his farm and went to live with his daughter, Mrs. Sophronia Murrie, at Lake Villa.

He has always been known as a fine farmer and an outstanding worker in the Masonic lodge at Millburn, the Antioch lodge, No. 127, where he served for three years as Worshipful Master and for seventeen years as secretary.

He is survived by five children, Mrs. Murrie, of Lake Villa; Mrs. Ernest Wells, of Lake Villa; Robert Patch, of Chicago; Oliver Patch, of Wadsworth; and Asa Patch, of Dorham, N. D. Three sisters also survive him, Mrs. L. Hutchinson, of Los Angeles, Calif.; Mrs. L. Evans, of Salina, Kans.; and Mrs. E. Dressler, of Dorham, Kans.

The body is being shipped home, and funeral services will be held at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. J. Murrie, at Lake Villa, with the Masons of his lodge officiating. Interment will be in Millburn cemetery.

ANNUAL INSURANCE MEETING

The annual meeting of the Millburn Mutual Insurance Company will be held in the Masonic hall, Millburn, Ill., Saturday, January 10, 1931, at 10:30 a. m., to hear the reports of the company, for the election of officers, and the transaction of any other proper business. Members plan to be present. J. S. Denman, Secretary, Lake Villa.

THE CANNIBAL TREE OF BORNEO

A cannibal tree that catches and eats animals, birds, and sometimes people. If they're not careful! Now what do you think of that, youngsters? My yarn today has to do with an adventure I had on the island of Borneo with one of those meat-eatin' trees.

I wanted to see what the critters looked like. So, with Kangy, I pulled ashore from the schooner and we started into the jungle. But not a sign did we see of one.

I was just about to head back for the schooner when a native hove in sight. In my best pidgin-English I told him what we were lookin' for. Wow! That gent was so scared he went right up into the air. He swore by ten thousand gods that he wouldn't lead us to the devil-debil tree, as he called it. But a small hand-mirror I had with me did th' trick. For such a present he promised to show us th' jungle cannibal.

At last, deep in the jungle, he pointed to a thick-trunked tree with big thick leaves and chattered with rollin' eyes: "Him debil-debil tree!"

I didn't believe th' yarns I had heard 'bout these cannibal trees so, with th' savage chatterin', and tryin' to hold me back, I walked right up under th' thing, as bold as brass. So help me Tom Bowlin, if those big leaves didn't begin to shiver and whisper, th' limbs commenced to wiggle and claw around, and before I could get away th' thing had me!

Well, s'r, that native pulled a big knife from his sash, jumped for th' tree and whacked right and left at th' collin' limbs that held me. In a minute or two I was free. I was so thankful I promised th' grinnin' savage I'd give him th' biggest mirror on th' schooner. And I kept my word, too.

IF I LIVE
THROUGH THIS
THERES GONA
BE MURDER

DOES
WAS GIL

SAY, TICKET
SELLER -
I'VE GOT A KICK-

THAT'S A SWELL
TICKET YOU
SOLD ME -

WHY YOU OUGHT TO BE ASHAMED OF YOURSELF -

WELL

NOBODY'S THOUGHT
OF THIS, A WAY
TO LIGHT DARK
TUNNELS

HE'S GOT AS MUCH RIGHT TO THE
